Campus life

---

Queen Mary is a campus-based university, combining access to central London with the ease of having all student services in one main location. Accommodation is available both on the Mile End campus in East London, where most of our students are based, and in the local area.

Study in London

London is the cultural, artistic, and economic centre of the UK. And East London, where our largest campus lives, is one of the most dynamic parts of the city. Studying here gives you the chance to explore London's amazing sights, as well as make the most of the many opportunities to get ahead when it comes to your career, in a location close to some of the world's leading employers.

Employability

---

Queen Mary graduates are highly sought after by employers and have some of the highest starting salaries of any UK university. Our careers office provides careers appointments, opportunities to meet employers and access to a live database of work experience opportunities and job vacancies.
